RECENT TALKS:

Gig Hardy, lately of Merseyside Biobank gave our March meeting a very informative talk on recording wildlife species. For further details on how to get going contact Biobank on www.MerseysideBiobank.org.uk

Dates for your diary

Our next speaker is to be Professor David Dunster, recently retired from the School of Architecture at Liverpool University. His topic is Cities, & why we don't understand them. He will be giving us a colourful tour of some of the cities which have inspired ideas in planning, such as New York, Paris, Rome & Berlin. He will also touch on how maps distort our understanding of cities, with reference to the London Underground map.

This talk will be on Wednesday 11th May, at 7.30 pm in the Woolton Village Club. Please note the change of date from that previously advertised.

Our speaker in July will be Frank Smith, who gave us a very entertaining talk in 2009 on Mr Meccano, Frank Hornby, complete with working Meccano models. His topic on July 20th will be William Lassell, amateur, gentleman & astronomer. Fuller details will be on our notice board & in issue 319 of the Newsletter.

All Woolton Society meetings are held in the upstairs room at the Woolton Village Club, starting at 7.30pm. Meetings are free & open to all. Membership forms, if required, are available from committee members.

The Baby Elephant's Secret

Issues 316 & 317 have featured pleas for information about a stone tablet unearthed during recent renovations at The Elephant Hotel. We have come to learn that the Rev. Thomas Robinson, commemorated in the stone was vicar of a church in Seel St in the 1830s, but we were puzzled as to how his memorial arrived in Woolton. The current licensee of The Elephant has contacted The Woolton Society to remind us that the Korova Corporation was the previous owner of both St Peter's in Seel St & The Elephant. It then busily transformed both into Alma de Cuba & Casa del Cocodrillo respectively, which could explain building materials & excavations at one site ending up at another. Happily, The Elephant is now restored to its old self, thanks in no small part to the efforts of The Woolton Society. For this story see Newsletters 309,310,311 & 312.

Membership Secretary

Once again we are sending out a plea for a membership secretary, as our long suffering Vice Chairman has been doing this job single handed for some time. The duties are not onerous, but computer skills would be an advantage. All candidates please form an orderly queue at the next meeting, or e-mail the Newsletter at jeanldavies@talktalk.net

Save Woolton Library Campaign (from Ron Travis, campaign coordinator)

The Save Woolton Library Campaign group was set up when it became apparent that the Council was considering the closure of Woolton Library as part of a package of service reductions following a huge government cut in the City's budget. The threat of a library closure has come on top of the expected closure of Woolton Swimming Pool and many residents have expressed anger that the amenities that attracted them to live in the area are now under threat. Local people feel that they pay high council taxes and could be facing an unfair share of the cuts.

The Leader of the Council, Councillor Joe Anderson, has written to us explaining that no final decision has yet been made, but that the coalition government has imposed a massive budget cut on the city of £91 million this year and £50 million next year. He says that this means that "nothing can be immune from the Government's cuts to the city" and that "no cut has been easy" claiming that the Council have "done their best to protect front line services" including libraries. Local M.P., Maria Eagle, has told us that "Liverpool has been hit hardest by the Tory government. Many Tory councils and constituencies have had to make tiny savings in comparison". She adds that "no consideration has been made for the most deprived areas in the country, such as our city."

A library consultation exercise is being carried out to seek the views of library users. Residents are strongly urged to visit the library and complete a questionnaire to express their views about the future of the library service.

It is clear that local residents strongly oppose the closure of Woolton Library. Almost 5,000 local people, nearly half the population of the area, have signed the "Save Woolton Library" petition. An i-petition has also been set up so that residents have an opportunity to voice their views about a library closure and say what the library means to them. You can visit the i-petition to sign the petition, make a comment and read the blog by googling: Save Woolton Library i-petitions.

The comments on the i-petition show that vast majority of residents believe that the library is at the heart of community and they fear that its closure would damage the community life of the village. For many people Woolton is a well loved and well used library considering its modest facilities. Many use the library together as families with parents and grandparents passing on the reading habit to the younger generation. A library closure would be a real blow to the people of Woolton and would seriously undermine the sense of community in the village.

Lots of children live in the village and several schools and nurseries in Woolton make regular visits to the library, and lots of people are concerned that its closure will have a negative impact on the literacy of young people in the community and will reduce their chances of developing a lifelong interest in books and reading. Parents collecting their children from schools in the area and pupils from local schools have been supportive in signing the petition.

Woolton has a large and growing elderly population. The proportion of older residents living in Woolton is much higher than the average for the city. Despite poor access to the library building, many elderly people make good use of the library, some with the help of friends and relatives, and it is a reading lifeline for many O.A.P.s who would struggle to find books and information if the library closed.

Many elderly people, who cannot afford computers, make good use of the Peoples' Network computers in the library to get information, find out about benefits, follow an interest in family history or to shop online. If the library closed, many would be denied these facilities.

For many the library has played an important role in helping families to read and learn and is an important agent of lifelong learning in the area. Their comments show how important the library has been in providing books and information and offering some a second chance to learn.

Woolton Library is a fairly low cost facility operated by a handful of friendly staff. It is unlikely that the library will entirely escape cuts such as a reduction in opening hours or the introduction of a part-time volunteer. However, the savings made from a library closure would be relatively small, yet the damage to the community would be considerable. Please help us to keep the library open by signing the petition or by writing to your local M.P. or the Council Leader. Their postal and e-mail addresses can be found on the Save Woolton Library i-petition blog.

Members of the Save the Library campaign met Council Leader Joe Anderson & libraries chief Wendy Simon at the Municipal Buildings on March 31st. Mr Anderson assured the group that no decisions will be made on closures until after the local elections on May 5th. There is still time to make your opinion known. Mr Anderson offered to hold a Cabinet meeting in Woolton at 9.30 am on April 28th. At the time of going to press we are unsure of the location of this meeting, as the Library has been deemed to be too small. Contact the Library (428 2235) for venue details. Members of the public can attend these meetings.

Woolton Baths

Local architect & Woolton Society member Sue Carmichael has been working on a project to have the baths building listed as an historic structure. Listed status would thwart the possibility of the site being given over to a developer should the council decide to close the pool permanently. Mrs Carmichael has also made representation to English Heritage & the Victorian Society, drawing on the wealth of information contained in the booklets of Woolton Walks by Janet Gnosspeilus.

We are not aware of any planning applications, & at the time of going to press we have not been informed of the Council's intentions concerning the pool's future. As is the case with the library, decisions are on hold pending the local election results. The appeal for funds goes on, in the hope of raising enough to pay for essential repairs. The Woolton Society has made a substantial donation to the Save the Pool appeal.

Hello and Goodbye

A sad farewell to Woolton's blacksmith which closed recently after serving the Village for nearly a century. The business was established soon after the Great War in Quarry Street, & traded as Blackmore & Sons. With the death of Bernie Blackmore the business was sold, & renamed Woolton Blacksmiths. However when the lease expired the site was put up for sale, & the smithy has moved to new premises in Netherley.

Hello to a new restaurant Caveau at 54 Allerton Road, with chef/patron David Roberts. Mr Roberts was formerly of L'Allouette in Lark Lane. Caveau will be open Tuesday to Saturday 5 to 10pm (early doors menu 5 to 7pm, £16.95 for 2 courses) & Sunday lunchtimes. Bookings on 428 6966.

Hello also to Woolton's first fish spa, situated in Maria Morrisroe at 39 Allerton Road. For those who have never used a fish spa, it is an experience with nothing to do with eating. Bare feet are dangled in a tank of tiny garra rufa fish, which then nibble at toes & heels, giving a perfect pedicure. A Japanese speciality, & surprisingly soothing if rather ticklish! £10 for 20 minutes. Book on 288 8088/8090 (ask for Tracy)

Woolton Cinema

The new manager of the cinema has informed us that he intends to restore the canopy over the steps. Good news, as the ironwork currently on display is not only a considerable eyesore, it is less than useful at sheltering customers queuing outside. We look forward to seeing a new canopy soon, together with the hanging baskets which made the cinema's frontage so attractive.
